PROFILE

During my time at Kingfisher Plc I worked in Offers and Supply Chain for Kitchen. In this period we launched tenders and conducted analysis of proposals. Some of my responsibilities were to review related data involving all OpCos and create green sheets. These analysis tools used required a thorough understanding of Excel formulas such as Vlookup and Sumif. As a team we developed tools to help us identify results for large amounts of data and the team effort and continuous development of Supply, Quality and Product Managers assisted the creation of Vendor strategies for each product category. It was an educational time, particularly working with an international team of professionals, whose devotion and endeavor taught me the importance of team work in overcoming challenges and providing great products and services.

I am currently working at PwC where I am part of a team involved in helping Audit and Assurance services provided to major companies. At PwC I have gained a great amount of experience in understanding and analyzing financial statements to ensure competency in operations, sourcing and investing.
